The Edelweiss Story

MARCHING TO A DIFFERENT BEAT

It is not the path that is right or wrong. It is the choices we make that determine a successful journey.

While there's always a choice to follow precedents and walk down the well-trodden path, there's also a contrary option. To break new ground by marching forward to a different beat. To make the world stand up and take notice.

The Olympic Games are the epitome of countless moments documented and dedicated to standing tall in a crowd. And Edelweiss has taken this event, the world's largest celebration of sports, as another opportunity to stand out by becoming the official sponsors of the Indian contingent at the 2016 Rio Olympics. Much like the great Olympians who feature in the pages that follow and also analogous to the motto of the Olympics, Citius – Altius – Fortius words that stand for Faster – Higher – Stronger, Edelweiss has always challenged the norm and in a short span of 20 years created a world class Indian financial services conglomerate. A successful acknowledgement of the contrarian path we have followed since inception by charting new territories with the courage of our convictions. The foundation for the journey ahead is based on these enduring ideals and values, and on the trust our clients and stakeholders place in our ability to understand their needs and add value to their lives.

The 2016 Annual Report is all about how we've traversed the road less travelled in the functioning of our organisation. Inspiring us along the way are the stories of athletes who have dared to be different; who have stuck to their convictions; and who have proved to us the enduring belief - winners don't do different things, winners do things differently.

Nadia Comaneci's Perfect 10

Behind all successful athletes, are the principles that define their careers. For Nadia, it was her principle of 'never settling for anything less than perfect' that shaped her career into that of a legend. She exemplified this when she moved away from her home and family to determinedly pursue her dream. The Romanian National Championships of 1968 where she finished 13th, served as a reminder to never settle for anything less than perfect. After initial failure she went on to become the first gymnast in history to achieve the hallowed Perfect 10. A success that Nadia was able to repeat multiple times, including at the 1976 Montreal Olympics where she bagged 3 golds and followed it up with another outstanding performance at the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Edelweiss Group Guiding Principles

Nadia Comaneci personifies the fact that even contrarians need to stay within a framework of their own definition. Marching to a different beat brings about its own rules.

Over the last 20 years since inception, our Guiding Principles have been the principal authority that govern and drive us in the direction of creating value for all our stakeholders. They are a blend of our ideals, culture and business ethics that have clarified and eased decision-making, and have ensured that the company takes the right path, for the right reasons, without compromising on the long-term vision.

Edelweiss Group: Guiding Principles

1. We will be a Thinking Organisation. We will constantly bring 'thought' to everything we do. Our clients' and our own success depend on our ability to use greater ideation and more imagination in our approach
2. We will be Fair to our clients, our employees and all stakeholders
3. We will take care of our People. Our policies - in spirit and in letter - will ensure transparency and equal opportunity for all. We will go beyond the normal goals of attracting, recruiting, retaining and rewarding fine talent. We will ensure that every individual in Edelweiss has an opportunity to achieve their fullest potential
4. We will operate as a Partnership, internally and externally. Though individuals are very often brilliant, we believe teamwork and collaboration will always ensure a better and more balanced organisation. We will also treat our clients as partners and show them the same respect and consideration that we would towards our internal team members
5. We will focus on the Long-Term. Though the world will change a lot in the coming years and our assumptions for the future may not hold up, we will reflect on the long-term implications of our actions. Even when making short-term decisions we will be aware of the long-term implications
6. We will focus on Growth for our clients, employees and shareholders
7. Our Reputation and Image is more important than any financial reward. Reputation is hard to build and even harder to rebuild. Reputation will be impacted by our ability to think for our clients, maintain confidentiality and by our adherence to our value system
8. We will Obey and Comply with the rules of the land. We will maintain the highest standard of integrity and honesty. When we are unclear we will seek clarifications
9. We will respect Risk. Our business is going to be a constant challenge of balancing risk and reward. Our ability to constantly keep one eye on risk will guide us through this fine balance
10. We will endeavour to grow, protect, and use our Financial Capital wisely

As we evolve to become more customer centric, so have our Guiding Principles evolved to now contain three new tenets which are pivotal to our business strategy. The new principles recognise that we are able to enhance our customers and stakeholders' experience by understanding their needs and acting in their best interests at all times. Now with the inclusion of these three new Guiding Principles, customer centricity is on its way to becoming an integral part of the Edelweiss culture.

11. We are defined by the Experience our customers have with us. We will strive to make it outstanding at all times
12. We will Listen to our customers. Listening is the start of the relationship wherein we understand their needs and fulfil these with the most appropriate products and solutions
13. We recognise that we need to satisfy the Needs, sometimes conflicting, of all stakeholders; shareholders who entrust us with their capital, employees who create the organisation, customers who are the reason we exist and society which has given us the resources and opportunity to create value

Roger Federer's Winning Serve

If one has ever followed tennis, or sports in general, Roger Federer needs no introduction. He is one of the most revered personalities in the world of sport. A true tennis legend, unfailing performances have become synonymous with his name. The statistics second this: 1000 career victories, a career grand slam, a record 7 Wimbledon titles and a career win percentage of 81. Despite ill health in 2008, Federer won a gold medal in men's doubles at the 2008 Beijing Olympics; and the silver medal in men's singles at the 2012 London Olympics. In fact, such has been his level of output that the call of "game Federer" by chair umpires has almost become part of their vocabulary.

Growth and Profitability

A strong mental make-up to overcome all challenges and deliver a consistent winning performance is synonymous with Roger Federer. A true legend, the statistics of his performance on the tennis court and his commercial success off it are a testimony to the above. His humility off court also reflects his attitude to the game.

Usain Bolt's Lightning Run

Usain Bolt was born to win, trained to race and built to run. His cool demeanour is deceptive hiding underneath a restless engine raring to set the track ablaze. Through constant improvements, he has built rigour, stepped up his performance each time to shave off microseconds making him the fastest man alive. He is a multiple time gold medal winner at the 2008 and 2012 Olympics and is aptly called 'The Lightning Bolt'.

Usain Bolt is an athlete who strives for performance excellence through a relentless focus on self improvement and continuous course correction.

Jesse Owens' Remarkable Stand

Jesse Owens is arguably the greatest athlete in Olympic history because of the sheer pressure under which he performed and to remarkable success. Owens took it upon himself to prove a point against racism and let his performance speak every time he took to the field. His finest hour came not once but twice. First at the Big Ten meet, where he set 3 world records and equalled the 4th, all within a span of 45 minutes. Second, at the 1936 Berlin Olympics, he debunked Hitler's myth of 'Aryan Supremacy' by notching 4 gold medals with an outstanding performance and won hearts with his humility.

Governance

Treading the lonely road comes with its share of risks. None better than Jesse Owens exemplifies this. He was an athlete at a time when racism was rampant. Despite the bias, Jesse had a clear vision of playing by the rules to be always at the top of his game.

Edelweiss adheres to best business practices by having a strong vision, led by ethics and understands the risk involved to remain committed and outperform even in challenging business environments. Keeping in mind our answerability to our stakeholders, Edelweiss Group follows a robust four tier Risk Management approach. An approach that has been tested over two downturns and has strengthened us internally and externally. This ensures our business model remains fit with steady profitable growth and is de-risked and fortified against volatile external conditions. Our strong Governance processes ensure that we move ahead with clarity and discipline for these are the stands on which our reputation has been built.

Thiago Silva's Accomplished Stewardship

One of the highest rated defenders in world football and the quintessential captain. His strategic approach and ability to lead played a pivotal role in him being awarded the captain's armband by the then coach of Brazil, Mano Menezes, during the 2014 FIFA World Cup qualifying cycle. Silva lived up to the trust shown in him. He guided Brazil to a silver medal at the 2012 London Olympics and to victory in the 2013 Confederations Cup. His innate ability to marshal the troops into an award winning squad is an inspiration.

Sergey Bubka's Vault to Success

Sergey Bubka was amongst those rare class of athletes who dominated an entire era. He began his career in 1981 as a track and field athlete but made a name for himself when he moved to pole vault. He believed that raising the bar wasn't only about reaching a higher level but achieving an all-new level of performance altogether. His unique technique, known as the Petrov/Bubka technique, enabled him to become the first to surpass the 6m and 6.10m marks previously thought of as unbeatable. It's easy to see why his supremacy went unchallenged for a decade; he was so unstoppable that he set and broke world records an unbelievable 35 times.

Scalability

Sergey Bubka was able to scale new heights in pole vaulting with a differentiated and innovative technique.

By leveraging the existing Edelweiss platform and judicious investments in newer and adjacent business spaces, we have consistently raised the bar on our performance. With a bouquet of multi asset class financial products and services that go beyond commercial banking, the Edelweiss Group is today well positioned to address the evolving needs of a large and diverse customer base both in India and globally.

Michael Phelps's Victory Splash

Michael Phelps, the very name sends waves of excitement in the world of swimming. He broke Mark Spitz's record of the highest number of medals in a single Olympic – a feat that was considered impossible. He has entered the Guinness Book a record 39 times in his journey thus far; including 18 gold medals, 22 medals in 3 separate Olympics. He proved that age is not a barrier to winning when he came back from retirement in 2014 to announce his intention to compete in the 2016 Rio Olympics. Just goes to show you can take the game out of a champion but never a champion from the game.

Sustainability

Michael Phelps trained hard year after year to hone his skills and sustain his record in all forms of the game. His agility and adaptability enabled him to overcome competition from some of the other greats of his time, break records and emerge a winner.

Agile adaptation, drawing off the economies of scale that the Edelweiss platform brings has helped businesses leverage opportunities for clients even before they become the norm. Our customers are at the heart of all that we do and this is the thought which drives our philosophy of Suno Samjho Suljhao. Also the flexibility to revise and quickly correct course if required ensures we can have a strong defensive play in dynamic economic situations.

With a significant presence in almost all the important segments of the financial services – each of our businesses represents future growth and an opportunity to sustain multiple client relationships across adjacent synergistic business verticals.

Over FY16, all the businesses have grown and the multi line model of many product and business groups has helped build a growth momentum that Edelweiss feels is sustainable over the long-term. Increasingly our profits are being contributed by multiple businesses and we have reduced concentration risk in our efforts to make the profits more sustainable.

Karnam Malleswari's Class Act

Hailing from a small village of Srikakulam, Andhra Pradesh, Karnam Malleswari overcame the odds of being a woman in a largely male dominated sport to become a bright star in Indian women's weightlifting. She is a dual world champion, an Asian Games medalist and an Olympic medalist. Trained under a project by the Sports Authority of India, she was mentored by Leonid Taranenko, a record holder himself. The intense coaching and supervision inspired her to push limits, step up on the odds to become the first Indian woman to win an Olympic medal.

People, Diversity & Culture

The legendary Karnam Malleswari was empowered by her coach and with the right support from her family became an Olympian.

At Edelweiss our people are our 'human capital' rather than 'human resources' because their interests are at the apex of what we do. They help navigate and drive our business, hence investing in our people and building a unified Edelweiss culture is important to us.

Edelweiss is distinguished by a 'Collective Ownership and Individual Responsibility' paradigm, which fosters an environment that nurtures, encourages and empowers future leaders. Today the Edelweiss platform is designed to endure and learn from the challenges of time, powered by our people. It is an arena that encourages collaboration and entrepreneurship as well as innovation with an eye on the goal.

Edelweiss Group: A people centric organisation

- The Edelweiss Leadership Programme (ELP) across the Senior Leaders, Business Leaders and Emerging Leaders employee networks supports the Group's rapid expansion and aspiration to grow further by grooming future leaders of the organisation
- The launch of the Women Empowered (WE) initiative will help augment the Group's leadership pipeline by adding greater value to the gender mix; initiatives like the mentorship programme, and workshops to facilitate skills enhancement for women employees have been designed to this purpose
- Best practices in good governance continue to remain a key aspect of the Edelweiss culture, with new initiatives like creating a Center of Excellence (CoE) at Group Risk level. The new Culture CoE focuses on enhancing this aspect of the organisation through awareness campaigns like REAP (Risk Education and Awareness Programme), socialisation and training sessions
- People centric initiatives like Education Assistance Programme for employees' children, the new iLEAP programme for grooming leaders, fitness programmes and launch of hobby clubs by EdelHealth are helping create a great-place-to-work environment for employees
- Volunteerism continues to be encouraged across the organisation – by way of participation in employee engagement activities by EdelGive, our philanthropic arm. This culture of volunteerism has also helped create a common platform for cross company collaboration
- In line with our ethos of high performance, excellence and commitment and also to encourage our fitness quotient, the Group has appointed Saina Nehwal, Ace badminton player as brand ambassador. Given that Edelweiss has always been a sports evangelist, we have reinforced the belief by sponsoring the Indian Olympic Team to the 2016 Rio Olympics

Letter from the Chairman

Edelweiss began operations 20 years ago with modest roots and an aspiration to build a solid and robust business based on sustainable and long-lasting values and culture. Initially we provided investment banking and portfolio advisory services. Today, our aspiration is to be a respected, world-class, diversified financial services firm with a portfolio of high-quality, growth businesses. This has meant that during this 20-year journey, our focus has been to build a resilient platform that enabled a unique business model. This unique model has resulted in the creation of a diversified organisation that is akin to a bank but with several advantages – it is multi-platform, has a healthy mix of wholesale and retail businesses, is more scalable and stable in a volatile market environment, leading to reduced costs and improved cross-sales. This diversified model has helped Edelweiss grow faster versus peers even in tepid market conditions.

This letter provides the perfect opportunity to share our journey with you and put our successes as well as our failures in perspective. The learning along the way, coupled with Edelweiss' guiding principles, has not only helped us constantly evolve and improve, it has also shaped the company's growth path and helped it stay true to the Edelweiss vision. I hope, every year henceforth, to share my thoughts with you on the organisation's evolution and approach.

SOME MUSINGS ABOUT OUR EVOLUTION

The last 20 years have been an exciting journey for Edelweiss — we explored business opportunities, devised strategies to counter the evolving challenges and provoked each other to set new benchmarks for ourselves as well as the financial services industry. In these years, we have faced teething troubles, taken baby steps onto the path of our growth, experienced an exhilarating period of hyper-growth, followed by a phase of consolidation that was as enlightening as it was painful; and finally the current phase of balanced growth which has translated into the rewards of having braved the previous consolidation phase sensibly. The outcome of each of these phases has been equally important, equally challenging and equally rewarding.

*Based on internal estimates

In 1996, as we set about putting together a fledgling organisation, we talked to several industry stalwarts seeking their advice. One suggestion we received, that has been the foundation of Edelweiss since inception, was to build a great organisation and not just a good business. To achieve this, we developed a set of Guiding Principles that defined what we stand for, what our core values and beliefs are, and they have determined our method of doing business.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

1. We will be a Thinking Organisation.
2. We will be Fair to our clients, our employees and all stakeholders.
3. We will take care of our People.
4. We will operate as a Partnership, internally and externally.
5. We will focus on the Long-Term.
6. We will focus on Growth for our clients, employees and shareholders.
7. Our Reputation and Image is more important than any financial reward.
8. We will Obey and Comply with the rules of the land.
9. We will respect Risk.
10. We will endeavour to grow, protect and use our Financial Capital wisely.

Over the years, we have been gradually moving from a product-centric company to a customer-centric company. We felt that while in spirit and action, we have been successful in initiating the change at the ground level; we now believe that our client-focus is something that should be reflected in our guiding principles as well. We have, therefore, added three more principles around customer centricity, to our original 10. These are:

- We are defined by the Experience of our customers have with us.
- We will Listen to our customers.
- We recognise that we need to satisfy the Needs, sometimes conflicting, of all stakeholders.

Over the last 20 years, our guiding principles have undergone changes that have only helped them become crisper and clearer. They have guided us not only in our behaviour and approach to business but have also helped us reach for goals beyond profits and market capitalisation to building a lasting institution with firm foundations. They have helped clarify what we truly stand for: Ideas Create, Values Protect.

These foundations have also helped build a culture of ownership, a common purpose and shared values within Edelweiss. We had started with a capital of ₹10 million, which was enough for us to obtain what was then a merchant banking license that allowed us to do everything but manage IPOs. The license amount, however, changed to ₹50 million just before we incorporated the company! It was our first exposure to regulatory upheaval and the first of the setbacks that we experienced in our journey. But we believed in finding opportunity amidst adversity and treating every setback as a hidden opportunity. So we started helping start-up companies raise funds via the non-IPO route, tapping VC and PE funds, which was a rarity in India at that time.

10 million rupees was what we thought we needed to cover our costs and a little over, the value of which we realised all too early as we had many advisory mandates but no closures. Markets had tanked, the Asian crisis soon followed, but by 1998, we finally had our first closure. Thereafter, our first few closures, mostly in technology (and one M&A closure!) resulted in us being greatly sought after. Our small office of 550 sq. ft. was soon far from sufficient and our tiny reception had to be turned into a conference room! This part of our journey, in hindsight, almost like the pre-warm-up part in marathon training, was exhilarating, chaotic and unstructured. More importantly, it was about a very small team of people and their ideas and creating a business that we did not have much experience in.

In 2000, as we had our first blockbuster year of financial performance, we had begun to experience some disquiet about the Internet boom. Valuations had become unreal and business plans had begun to be created with the sole purpose of fundraising. We had also begun to feel the need for some stability in earnings and to go back to looking seriously at “adjacent markets” (I have always considered Peter Drucker to be among the foremost management thinkers). We started considering a foray into the Broking business. There was some debate as to whether we were contaminating a high-quality business with a more “grubby” business – the broking industry had seen tremendous regulatory overhaul and significant industry-level changes since SEBI was established in 1992. However, we had done our homework and were confident in our ability to make the business work. In the same year, we also raised our first round of outside capital. We could now afford a Category I merchant banking license. And, we were pre-occupied with two areas – adding people as well as capital – and seriously evaluating making a broking acquisition.

As it happened, the markets and the economy sank and business slowed down in 2001. This was accompanied by the bursting of the Internet bubble. The broking business that we had acquired (Rooshni Securities) also saw its revenues halving. But that didn’t deter us from setting targets for ourselves which pushed us to take these challenges as a part and parcel of the business cycle. I remember, in 2002, at the year-end strategy exercise for the broking business, the team set their five-year gross revenue target at ₹30-40 million; I insisted on ₹100 million. We were doing ₹5 million in revenues at the time and we decided to invest ₹5 million into the business. Everybody thought I was being unreasonable. In 2008, we did ₹2.4 billion in the institutional broking business!

We stood by our rationale - “One should never waste a crisis”. Bad times are actually great times to build a market. During a downturn, not only is it easier to find quality talent, investing during a down cycle also ensures that when the market cycle turns, we are ready with a tested platform, system and processes to benefit from the tailwinds. We set about making the optimum use of this downturn – we had made some great hires (we grew from 10 people in March 2000 to nearly 100 in March 2004); we had sufficient capital and we had a new office measuring 5,000 sq. ft.

Of these, the most important of our resources has been our human capital, where we have been lucky to have hired people who have defined Edelweiss as it stands today. Rujan Panjwani joined us in 2000 to run our Treasury business and today, runs not only our Agri-financing and Commodities business but also oversees several key enterprise functions such as Global Risk and Compliance, as well as Human Resources. He also serves on our Board. Deepak Mittal has evolved from being part of our Investment Banking team in 2000 to running Treasury with Rujan, then briefly serving as our CFO during our IPO and after developing our thinking on Life Insurance, serves as CEO of Edelweiss Tokio Life. Nitin Jain joined us in 2004 in our Treasury team building it up to scale, then surprised us by offering to run our Global Wealth Management business and turning it around successfully. He now is also Co-Head of the Global Asset Management business with Venkat Ramaswamy. And I have several more examples to share.

During this phase, we also started exploring new, innovative business lines, which were in their nascent stages in the country. We dabbled in options and futures, the new “in-thing” and also began to invest in our research desk. By the end of 2003, we were convinced that recovery was around the corner.

Joyful Hypergrowth: 2004 – 2008

By 2006, we had witnessed two significant rounds of capital raises. The focus on people, capital and ideas continued and the pace of expansion was exhilarating. The Indian capital markets were doing really well and we were well-placed to gain significantly from this growth. That is why we like to call this phase of our evolution as a phase of “Joyful Hypergrowth”. We were expanding rapidly, especially in terms of human capital. In fact, we kept running out of office space all the time! So much so that we graduated from one office in Nariman Point with 200 people to 12 offices with 1,800 people in four years!

This was also a phase of serious introspection within the organisation. We were fatigued and saturated by 2005 and were unclear about what our goals and aspirations now should be. We had set targets for ourselves and once we achieved those, we were plagued by the question — What next? We then conceived the 10x10 strategy, wherein we aimed to grow 10x times in 10 years. This introspection exercise made us realise that the manner in which we frame our future will determine our actions and growth. Hereon, our objective was to stretch, soar and test our limits and see where we land.

However, our high dependence on the capital markets was becoming apparent at this point of time. We had once said then that we would never handle credit and that we didn’t understand it. But, the overt dependence on capital markets and the gradual convergence of capital and credit markets, over the years, made us realise the importance of business diversification. We began to actually explore evaluating the credit business, which culminated in setting up a leadership team in 2007. Realising the need for capital to drive this credit business, we strengthened our investor base by raising more capital. An IPO was a natural follow-up to this and we went public in 2007.

Painful Consolidation: 2008 – 2012

Amount in ₹ million	2008	2012	CAGR

From 2008 onwards the dynamics were very different for Edelweiss due to a variety of factors:

- We were now a listed company
- The success of the good times resulted in carelessness and sloppiness - for example, we started a Private Client Group, as part of our Broking business, that underwent several “version” changes of people and strategy only because we did not define what we stood for in that business
- The reality of the global financial crisis had hit home hard. Our credit business was still nascent, our foray into retail capital markets was all too-new and our dependence on wholesale capital markets all too apparent
- Edelweiss’ back-end was inadequate and its pace of expansion could not match the pace with which the businesses were expanding. We underestimated the importance of enterprise functions and suffered as a consequence.

While this stage of our journey was the most demanding and punishing phase of our journey, we truly laid the foundation of growth that was to follow. We also learnt one very important lesson — you are never as good as people make it out to be in the good days and you are never as bad as people make it out to be in the bad days — the reality is somewhere in between. All our significant businesses today were seeded and nurtured then and right through 2012 and beyond. In addition to Credit, we became the 24th life insurance company in a joint venture with Tokio Marine. We launched our first few funds – a real estate and a special situations fund, commencing our foray into Asset Management. On the capital markets side, we began a Global Wealth practice. We also invested heavily in the technology and enterprise functions. We now had our own Business Solutions Group to provide cutting-edge technology solutions to our businesses; we built a strong risk and governance team; we formally set up our philanthropic foundation, EdelGive, in 2008, to channelise both financial and non-financial support (in terms of the time provided by Edelweiss employees) to selected non-profits. The challenges faced in this period helped us realise our core competence, as well as understand the importance of diversification. It was a period of painful consolidation, which has paid rich dividends for us.

Mature and Balanced Growth: 2012 – 2016

Amount in ₹ million	2012	2016	CAGR
Revenues	16,707	53,157	34%
Profit after Tax	1,277	4,144	34%
Employees	3,108	6,227	19%
Book Value per Share	34.8	45.1	7%
Diluted Earnings per Share	1.7	4.9	31%

The synergistic diversification that we followed in this most recent phase has helped us to even out our earnings volatility. By broad-basing the business model, not only have we reduced our dependence on the capital markets, we have also created a strong and sustainable revenue line going forward, one which is relatively more stable and secure.

Between 2012 and 2016, we have focused on true diversification, horizontally and vertically, with the aim of achieving what we would like to call balanced growth. We have strengthened our businesses, simultaneously working to de-risk them to enhance sustainability. At the same time, we have decentralised our businesses whilst creating strong governance and risk management structures both at the Edelweiss level and at the business group level. Capital allocation (including liquidity and balance sheet management), global risk (including brand and reputation), key people and leadership and strong review mechanisms are areas on which I focus all my time. Our businesses are now freer to focus on growth and new ideas, human resources and customer value addition.

We think that the focused consolidation efforts made by us in the previous phase from 2008-2012 have borne tangible results in this period with profit having largely witnessed a steady uptick. Particularly, the focus on seeding new businesses and gradually scaling up the mature ones has helped us create a stream of businesses that are ready to take advantage of the India growth story that we believe is going to unfold over the coming decade.

Our growth whirlpool has been a benchmark in establishing all our businesses. Each attribute creates a base for the next attribute, which helps us to finally create a growing and sustainable client base.

We also have a consistent philosophy that helps us decide the kind of businesses we want to be in. The graphs below espouse our philosophy to some extent.

While businesses like the first one (Type 1) are easy to understand and sell, they are usually rare. The businesses of the second kind (Type 2) are the ones we like! This is reflected in most of our businesses. While these might require financial capital as well as emotional capital, we feel that they provide long-term gains that justify the initial travails. The third kind (Type 3) usually require deep pockets and a long-term gestation period. This is the strategy that we are following in our insurance business.

So in these 20 years, have we made mis-steps? Our counter-cyclical approach and willingness to experiment has ensured we undertake many experiments but always by asking – is it worth it? And can we afford it? We take what, by our definition are “calculated risks”. We will make small mistakes all the time. In following a counter-cyclical approach to business, we have invested in new businesses at a time that has appeared foolish to the rest of the world. We constantly look for large opportunity spaces with high growth rates. Such businesses provide tailwinds and operating in them feels akin to running downhill in a marathon. We have the largest Asset Reconstruction Company (ARC) in the country today but are also investing in setting up a new business that will focus on devising and executing operational and structural turnaround strategies for portfolio companies in the ARC. Within Credit, in addition to Structured Collateralised Credit and Mortgages, we have developed a strong practice around Fixed Income, Real Estate Advisory and SME and Agri-financing. We have made strategic acquisitions in JP Morgan India mutual funds' schemes that will add more than ₹55 billion to our AUM and Edelweiss Multi-strategy Fund that has leveraged our platform to provide alternative investment strategies to our wealth customers. We have made significant investments in technology and digitisation – the latest being a strategic partnership with IBM to build efficiency and analytics in our product offerings. We have also made significant investment in managing risk through people and processes. This, I believe, has put us in a good position to take advantage of the growth opportunities we foresee as being available to us in the coming years.

THE YEAR AT EDELWEISS

FY16 saw steady, all-round growth for Edelweiss despite the general economic slowdown in the country. We increased market share across businesses, led by strong credit business growth and expanded our footprint across geographies, particularly in the retail segment, which ensured another robust performance this year. Our total revenues were ₹53 billion, up 36% over FY15 and Profit After Tax (PAT) was up 26% to ₹4 billion. Our return on tangible equity ex-insurance for FY16 was 18.6%, up from 15.6% in FY15 with consolidated Return on Equity (RoE) improving to 12.9%.

We believe the right approach to measure our performance is to look at overall returns on an ex-insurance basis. Realistically, this is a measure of our 'normal' performance because we have always maintained that the life insurance business has a relatively longer gestation period and we are, currently, in the investment phase. The return on these investments will start giving results over a period of time. Until then, it makes sense to consider our ex-insurance returns as a more reliable proxy for our 'normal returns'.

Edelweiss has maintained consistent improvement in quarterly profits since FY12 with almost 18 straight quarters of growth coupled with efficiency and productivity. Today, we are one of the top five diversified financial services firms in India with a Balance Sheet size of over ₹320 billion, Assets under Management of ₹320 billion and Assets under Advice of ₹295 billion under our Global Wealth Management business, with over 6,227 employees spread across 237 offices and 4,500 client touch points.

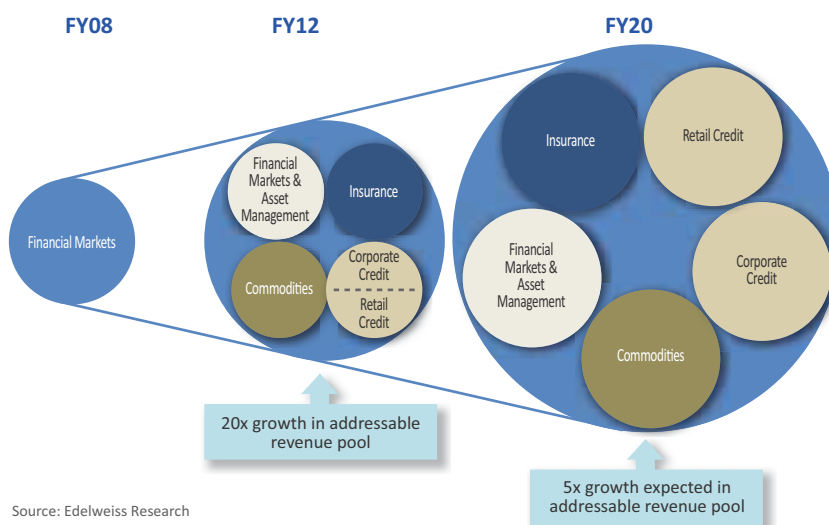

OUR BUSINESSES

Our businesses are a reflection of how we feel the India story is going to pan out over the coming decade. To truly understand our business strategy and philosophy, we first need to understand that our outlook on the "India of the coming decade" stems from a quiet confidence in the India growth story and our belief that households will drive this growth.

With a significant presence in almost all the important segments of the financial services and leadership positions in many – each of our businesses represents future growth and an opportunity to sustain multiple client relationships across adjacent synergistic business verticals. We build enduring relationships with our clients by offering solutions that are customised to their needs and are supported by smart execution.

On a broad level, we classify our businesses into the following three groups:

- Credit
- Non-credit
- Insurance

Source: Edelweiss Research

While the credit businesses have provided us the steady growth and scalability, our non-credit businesses drive the extra profitability that helps us stay ahead of competition. Many of these businesses also form a symbiotic complement to our credit businesses. We believe that a healthy mix of credit and non-credit businesses is the model for the future.

CREDIT

Our hypothesis about the strong India growth story provides us with a significant opportunity to exploit the potential growth in credit businesses in India. Our approach is to find credit verticals wherein we can build competitive advantage, ideally in a fast growing niche and which can give us a book size of ₹50-100 billion over four to five years. If we can enter into one new vertical every two to three years and build 8-10 such verticals over a period of time, we can have a credit book of ₹1,000 billion. This strategy is driven by the blurring boundaries between banks and non-banks, a trend which is only going to accelerate over the next 10 years.

Our existing credit business is spread across wholesale and retail segments with several verticals:

Credit Segment	Book Size (Mar 31, 2016)
	₹ billion	USD million
Structured Collateralised Credit	68	1,019
Real Estate Finance	53	807
Distressed Assets Credit	19	286
Mortgages	26	399
SME & Agri Financing	14	217
LAS and Others	19	293
Total	200	3,021

Since we aim to build a multi-line business akin to a bank, we offer solutions that are customised to clients' specific needs across the corporate, SME and retail spectrum. We first envisaged launching the credit business in 2005 with an aim to build a good mix of credit and non-credit businesses. But first we needed capital to do that. So we went ahead and raised funds from Greater Pacific Capital. We launched the credit business in 2007 and 9 years hence, from zero credit assets, our credit book today stands at more than USD 3 billion. Despite the strong growth, our robust risk-management processes have ensured that we continue to maintain the asset quality of the overall credit book with our Gross NPLs at 1.4%.

Under Structured Collateralised Credit and Distressed Assets Credit, we offer bespoke/customised solutions to the corporate and the wholesale segments. This includes products spanning promoter financing as well as trade financing. Our real estate business caters to a wide range of residential developers. We also have a real estate fund and a real estate consulting practice under this business. The wholesale credit business, launched in 2007, today has a credit book of around ₹140 billion.

We started the Retail Credit operations in 2011. Today it comprises of mortgages, SME, Agri Financing, Loans against Shares and Rural Finance and has a credit book size of around ₹60 billion with operations across 45 cities and over 3,400 villages with a client base of 304,000. The mortgages business caters to retail home buyers and business owners. As part of this business, we provide a wide-variety of products including housing finance, small ticket housing loans, loan against property and real estate finance.

We consider SME & Agri Financing as one of the biggest untapped avenues in the India credit market. Agri Financing alone is a USD 10 billion unorganised market that is highly scalable and unoccupied by institutional players and we see this new line of business, as an integral part of our strategy, to occupy a larger part of the agri value chain spanning from the farmer to the dinner table. Our other offerings on the retail side include products like loan against security and micro finance solutions to clients in tier III/IV cities and rural areas.

NON-CREDIT

Non-Credit	FY2015	FY2016

Average Daily Volume (₹ billion)	50	52

Number of deals	114	100

Asset Management
Assets under Management (₹ billion)	230	321
Agri Services
No. of warehouses	122	265

Our non-credit business comprises primarily of wealth management, asset management and capital markets. Our focus remains to actively drive the asset management and the wealth management businesses. These businesses, in particular, would benefit substantially from the huge wealth creation in our country in the coming decade.

Our wealth management business offers retail and HNI broking – both online and offline, wealth management advisory services to HNI clients and third-party financial products distribution, among others. We launched our wealth management business in 2008. However, it took us two years to realise that there is a huge difference between wealth management and product-selling. We had the eternal dilemma of deciding whether we were doctors or chemists. We found that there was no easy answer to this. But we have realised over time that we should see ourselves more as a custodian of investors' financial health and hence, we are technically doctors. We also re-engineered our products to make them more customer-oriented and need-based.

Our Asset Management business comprises four verticals – Credit Alternatives, Multi-Strategy Funds, Retail Asset Management and Asset Reconstruction. The Asset Management business has both equity focus across Mutual Fund, Portfolio Management Services (PMS) and Alternative Investment Funds (AIF) as well as a credit focus which includes Asset Reconstruction and Special Opportunities fund. The Total Assets under Management are more than ₹320 billion. Our Mutual Fund business has grown this year and along with the acquisition of the India schemes of JP Morgan Asset Management Company (subject to regulatory approval) is likely to scale up its AUM significantly.

We launched our distressed assets business in 2008 and obtained an ARC license from the RBI in 2009. The lack of sufficient business opportunities meant that by the end of 2012, the distressed assets business was itself in distress! However, we had a firm belief in our convictions and persisted with the business, trying to make it work via a combination of agility and adaptability. Our distressed assets business is today the leading ARC in the country and is continuing to scale up at a sturdy pace. It has also already created a solid track record of resolution of assets of ₹120 billion by the end of FY16 through multiple resolution strategies with revival and business turnaround being the foremost strategy.

Under the capital markets business, we offer the entire spectrum of corporate advisory services including fixed income advisory, mergers and acquisitions, equity capital markets and private equity syndication. We also pride ourselves in being leaders in the debt capital markets. We are also one of the largest institutional broking houses in India with a market share of around 4.5% by revenue. This has been built on the back of a strong research desk that has extensive coverage, providing comprehensive information on a multitude of sectors.

LIFE INSURANCE

With the rapidly increasing disposable income in the hands of the Indian consumer and the extremely low penetration of the life insurance market, we felt that the life insurance business provided a wonderful opportunity to expand our addressable retail markets. Edelweiss Tokio Life Insurance was, thus, launched in partnership with Tokio Marine of Japan in 2011 with the highest ever startup capital for a life insurance company, of ₹5.5 billion. Tokio Marine has infused ₹5.27 billion in FY16 for an additional 23% stake, taking its total holding in the JV to 49% with Edelweiss holding the remaining 51%. Edelweiss Tokio Life has been recognised as among the fastest growing life insurance companies in India in the last three years with rapid growth in individual APEs, far outstripping the industry growth. Our Life Insurance business has been growing rapidly, easily outstripping the industry growth rates.

● Individual APE CAGR growth since FY13

Being new to this business, our learning has been substantially experiential, whilst at the same time absorbing new ones from the experiences of our partner Tokio Marine. We have tried to amalgamate the world-class insurance practices of Tokio Marine and adjusted them to suit our Indian sensibilities. This cannot be better explained than by Vijaypath, meaning path to victory, a unique prioritised customer need based solution. We developed a customer-centric Net Promoter Score (NPS)-based approach where the focus was on identifying the needs of the customer across different buckets. Only after this was achieved did we determine the kind of products that the customer should be offered. Not only did this help us develop long-lasting customer relationships, it also helped us chart out a clear strategy path to building a sustainable, long-term customer-friendly business. This has been accentuated by our rapid expansion across the country, covering more than 60 cities in India. Our funds in the insurance business have also performed commendably, exemplified by the top performer rating by Morningstar.

The business has faced its own set of challenges like persistency levels that did not match the high standards we had set for ourselves. Several times over the past few years we have paused and taken a moment to step back and take stock, identify the areas where we were lagging and worked on ways to improve. The results have been commendable and we continue to feel quietly confident about our insurance business with respect to its capability to ensure long-term value creation.

APPROACH, VALUES AND BUSINESS PRINCIPLES

Our approach, values and business principles are an amalgamation of what we feel about the strategic direction of the business and what we have learned over the last 20 years. Broadly we focus on:

1. Diversification
2. Countercyclical investment with an eye on the long-term
3. Great businesses within great organisation. The importance of enterprise functions
4. People
5. Culture of ownership
6. Customer at the centre
7. How the world is becoming more B2C

DIVERSIFICATION AND COUNTER-CYCLICAL INVESTMENT

We have spoken about diversification and de-risking the model and how that has occupied a significant part of our thinking over the years. There has also been a sustained emphasis on the contrarian strategy. These counter-cyclical moves into adjacent business lines are consistent with our focus on “synergistic diversification” both via the organic as well as the inorganic route. We have made very successful investments into inorganic opportunities as part of our growth strategy through the acquisition of Rooshni Securities, Anagram Capital and Forefront over the years. Our recent acquisition of JP Morgan India mutual funds' schemes in India is an extension of this. This has also meant a constant evaluation of the large opportunity spaces in adjacent markets or otherwise, largely born of the need to build capability and capacity to absorb the shocks of an evolving economy and regulatory structure.

PEOPLE

Our ability to seed, nurture and grow new businesses would not have happened if we had not built a great management team – one that combined learnability, business understanding and most importantly, had the intrinsic, rare and valuable ability to use the Edelweiss platform and provide the “values” glue. We have always focused on hiring great people and providing them with a platform to build great businesses.

● Leadership Model

- I think we realised very early in our journey that the importance of quality human capital far outweighed any other asset
- A running theme, throughout our 20 years, has been our focus on hiring talented individuals and building up a talent pool
- We also pride ourselves in grooming leaders across the organisation through vertical leadership groups that span our entire organisation rather than only the senior management

CULTURE OF OWNERSHIP

Over the several phases of our journey, people have always been at the top and centre. Our aspiration has been to create a great platform for people to assume great responsibility. We like people who can push the boundary in their thinking, who embrace new ideas and are hungry for more, for the firm and for themselves. Our approach to leadership and development also embodies this predilection – identify great talent early and provide the enabling environment for success. Our ESOP philosophy has also worked to create a culture of ownership and one that promotes entrepreneurship and innovation without compromising on institutionalisation. Within Edelweiss, the focus has always been to create business owners rather than employees.

MAKING MISTAKES

At Edelweiss, we have always believed that making mistakes is the best way to learn. After all, if there were no mistakes, every match would end up 0-0! We consider every setback an opportunity to recalibrate and find out which new windows have opened up.

We have made several mistakes over the years, which have only helped us learn and grow stronger.

- Oftentimes, we have displayed a lack of patience in trying to scale up too many things too quickly
 - Early struggles around our retail foray are legendary – issues revolved around managing higher number of employees and offices
 - We underestimated integration issues during our acquisition of HT Nanavati and Anagram
- Looking at the short-term profit opportunity rather than the long-term business model
- Adding complexity for growth rather than simplicity for growth
- Mistakes in balancing long-term and short-term
- Being product-oriented rather than customer-oriented

The learning we have had from these has helped us grow as an organisation. During our acquisitions, we focused first on building a good team, imposing the highest risk and compliance standards and only then on product and service innovation. Our HR teams have learnt to embrace the different cultures and motivation levers in our retail businesses while keeping our core values uniform. Our experience has shown that by applying a thoughtful and differentiated approach, it is possible to build scalable and sustainable retail financial services businesses.

IMPORTANCE OF ENTERPRISE FUNCTIONS

For people and partnerships to succeed, they require support and back-up. They need a platform that is well equipped in many different ways. The platform should be an amalgam of all the small and big elements that will be required for people and partnerships to succeed. It should be like the self-sufficient aircraft carrier, which not only enables the aircraft to fly and soar, but also to come back safely and get prepared for the next flight. This has been achieved through a strong support system in the form of Enterprise functions.

Our strong Risk and Enterprise functions have been the backbone of our ability to diversify and build great businesses. There are four elements that have enabled us to build a great risk culture. First, as a function, a strong centralised risk team that works closely with each business risk team. This is further strengthened through technology enablement and robust review processes. Second, the orientation that each employee is a potential risk manager – one doesn't need to be a risk professional to recognise and flag off risks. And third, it makes great business sense to treat client risk as our own. Finally, we have an annual risk score card for each of our businesses that culminate in the Risk and Compliance awards, where high performers are felicitated by the Board.

Since 2009, we have focused on developing strong Enterprise functions – Compliance, Technology, Human Resources and Operations to support our businesses. Our Enterprise functions help navigate business and structure level complexity – especially choices made by businesses around products, geographies, clients and delivery models and the increasing need for customisation and automation. Thus, these teams operate as a great bulwark for both risk and business.

PARTNERSHIPS

Another key factor in our growth was the reliance we put on partnerships. Partnerships within the organisation, among leaders, among businesses, with stakeholders like our investors and shareholders as well as with customers themselves. We knew that we were co-creating. It was not just our dream, it was a collective dream. It was not just our journey, it was a collective journey. And it was not our game to win, all of our stakeholders – the Board, the employees, the clients - we were all in it together. Very early in our history, we were able to forge partnerships with investors who saw us worthy of partnering. Our key leaders have been with us for long and have often advised us on the way forward. They are the ones who found new opportunities of growth from time to time. And today, we learn a lot and correct ourselves by listening to our customers and seeking their advice. And in this concept of partnership, we wind up the balance between individual glory and common cause.

CUSTOMER AT THE CENTRE

Customers are at the heart of what we do and happy customers make us happy. In fact it has been our customers who have been the stars to help us navigate our way as we built this diverse financial services platform. I have already talked about how our approach has moved from being more product-centric to being more customer-centric. The success of our new approach has been evident in the success being enjoyed by our wealth management team as well as the high customer satisfaction levels we are witnessing in our life insurance business (Vijaypath!). Customers form the core focus of whatever decisions we now take – we ask ourselves the question – is this what our customer wants, does it help make his life easier, does it provide him a reason, at the end of the day, to be grateful to Edelweiss? If the answer is yes, decision making becomes the easiest thing to undertake.

THE B2C WORLD

With rapidly improving technologies and increasingly discerning and conscious customers, the disintermediation in the world is increasing rapidly. We see more and more examples of businesses interacting directly with consumers through improved and efficient means. We have been increasingly conscious of this change and have invested in a wide variety of technologies to ensure that we are at the forefront of this evolution. At Edelweiss, we have always believed in being in sync with the changing curve, taking care not to be too far ahead and never falling behind the business evolution. This has enabled us to be in sync with the changing contours of the financial services world and provide our clients with best-in-class processes and technologies.

IN HINDSIGHT

We could summarise our approach as encompassing balance, people, partnerships and platforms. I feel our journey has been one of calibrated exploration. We have explored our own capabilities and we have explored opportunities to achieve our goals. And whenever a crisis or a roadblock arose, we used it to explore a new avenue of growth. Much like a marathoner, who calibrates his race strategy whenever conditions are tough. Or, the explorer, who finds a new route to reach his destination every time an existing route becomes untenable! But to succeed in any sport as in business, it is necessary to find the right talent, put hours and hours of preparation and practice to hone it and create an environment that motivates them to be fearless and desirous of success. And a culture that brings the balance between individual glory and common cause. A balance between idealism and pragmatism. This is the same balance conundrum that an Olympian faces between practicing and resting. In an ideal scenario, the sportsman should practice endlessly. However, this could lead to risks of burnout and possible injuries. Practice therefore has to be balanced by adequate rest to give the best possible performance when it matters.

Almost all organisations struggle to maintain a healthy balance between the two – become too pragmatic and risk losing the “soul” of their business – become too idealistic and one may find it difficult to survive in the real world. We faced a similar dilemma when we started out – the key is to follow a balanced approach. The only answer lies in finding constant balance. We can stand on one foot for some time but not for long. Be it inhaling and exhaling – two entirely opposite actions that sustain life, left or right, male or female, acceleration or braking – every aspect of the human life is based on balance between two equally powerful but opposing forces.

Our guiding principle of “Ideas create, values protect” espouses the same twin-force mechanism – ideas are our accelerator while values provide the requisite brakes to keep a check on exceeding our limits. These two pillars that define us also reflect – we firmly believe in the creation of a good leadership bench, which constitutes our ideas. At the same time, our robust risk management processes constitute our values that protect us.

As we look back, we find that we have been able to do this quite well through the interplay of what we like to call the three Ps – People, Partnerships and Platforms. We believed that the only way to realise our dreams was to bring in bright talent – people who were much smarter than us, shared our vision and were willing to join their own energies and aspirations to ours to render the vision larger and shared. We sought every opportunity to attract bright talented people. Often, when the chips were down and the economy was facing headwinds, we went out and searched for good talent. We hired people soon after the tech bubble burst and 9/11 and once again we recruited in the aftermath of the financial crisis of 2008. We are fortunate that some very smart people bought into our vision and joined us. As they came in, we grew, the platform grew. It is these people - many of them in leadership positions within the organisation today – who have defined our growth and acceleration. Today the Edelweiss family is more than 6,200 people strong.

We focused on creating a culture of mutual respect, trust and empowerment where people were encouraged to explore the boundaries of their capabilities and felt confident and secure in a supportive culture. We were among the few companies right from the beginning that provided stock options to a majority of staff, thus living our belief of empowering people and to make them stakeholders.

FUTURE OUTLOOK

We have always felt that the India growth story should be seen from an evolutionary perspective rather than from an “at-a-point-of-time” perspective. As we have often said, India is a great movie to watch but not a good picture to see. At any given point of time, while there may be a variety of “noise”, the overall big picture continues to be healthy. This noise, in the form of volatility and uncertainty, will be no more than what we have seen and we truly believe that the next two decades will be a better, upgraded version of the previous two decades.

- India became a USD 1 trillion economy in 2007
- From there, it took nearly eight years to add another USD 1 trillion to the economy
- We estimate that the next trillion could be reached by 2020 – in fact, we believe that after USA, China and Japan, India could become only the fourth country in the world to touch the USD 5 trillion mark in 2025
- After 2025, we could actually be adding USD 1 trillion to the economy every 18 months!
- We firmly believe that the era of compounding for India has truly begun

The bottom line is that we remain extremely bullish about the India growth story – there would be distractions, of course, but the overall growth outlook remains extremely positive.

We also believe that a major chunk of this growth would be financed through the Indian households. There are four primary balance sheets funding India's growth. Of these, the Government would be hard-pressed to expand its balance sheet, Corporate balance sheets are to a large extent stretched and while overseas balance sheets are healthy and will aid GDP expansion, their scale would be much smaller. Households in India are currently highly unlevered with only a small portion of the bank debt coming from them. This provides ample scope for expansion in these balance sheets and forms the foundation of our expectations for India. With these thoughts in mind, we aim to base our business strategy to align ourselves to take maximum advantage of the India growth story.

Like any growing economy, India too will continue to consume financial services on an accelerated trajectory in the years to come. The demand for financial services will come from both wholesale and retail sectors. This will be further exacerbated by the low penetration of financial services in the country. The catching up process will add further impetus to demand for financial services. There is an overwhelming need for an all-encompassing financial services platform, right from "farmer to fork". At Edelweiss, we aim to grow in all these areas and become part of the solution to support India's growth aspirations and the aspirations of its people. We have a strategy that works. We will continue this focus. We may continue to make tough calls and at times make mistakes. But our platforms are robust – they are equipped to support our growth objectives and are also cost-efficient, technology efficient and risk efficient. We have the right people with us, we are constantly forging the right partnerships and our value system is well in place. At the same time, we need to be cognizant of not losing this insatiable hunger to succeed or allow any kind of complacency to creep in.

We firmly believe that our strategy of growing 10x in 10 years, 100x in 20 years and 1000x in 30 years provides us not only with a challenging yet achievable goal but also helps us constantly analyse each decision that we take from the context of its impact on our targets. Just like preparing for any sporting event, it demands endurance to battle the bruises coupled with the courage and gumption to still march ahead. At the same time, this has to be complemented with the drive to achieve excellence and consistently outdo ourselves. At Edelweiss, we foresee building a long-term organisation like preparing for the Olympics except that there is no end date and no binomial payoff. The basic tenets however remain the same – hard work, dedication, mental and physical strength and a firm belief in our own abilities.

It is a long-winding road and the challenges are many but we will continue to justify the faith you have reposed in us by consistently exceeding expectations and delivering results that truly make this organisation world-class.

Yours Sincerely,

Rashesh Shah
Chairman & CEO

Management Discussion & Analysis

MACRO ECONOMY: REVIEW AND OUTLOOK

The year FY16, did not pan out as envisaged last year primarily due to a deterioration in global situation leading to exports slowdown and the second straight year of poor monsoon. Government did reorient the fiscal spending towards infrastructure in gradual economic recovery. Reserve Bank of India (RBI) also resumed monetary easing in FY16. However, due to stretched bank balance sheets, less than half of RBI cuts got transmitted.

Going into FY17, we expect the situation to improve because - first, a normal monsoon (IMD's forecast) should provide relief to rural economy. Second, the benefits of RBI rate cuts will finally flow into the domestic economy through better transmission and lastly, Government's infra push and reforms should start improving the domestic economy.

INDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENTS

Commercial Credit Markets

The growth of Indian banking sector moderated further during FY16 (non-food credit at sub 12% levels) following slower than anticipated macro recovery which led to cash flows of borrowers coming under stress. As a result, the asset quality of banks continued to worsen. In addition, the asset quality review of banks by RBI exacerbated the pain. Hence, the profitability of PSU banks continued to be under strain and will recover only gradually.

NBFC Industry

The NBFC sector has been steadily gaining systemic importance with increase in assets from less than 11% of banking assets in FY09 to over 14% now.

NBFCs have been growing at a faster rate due to a smaller base and also due to their ability to structure transactions to satisfy specific customer needs. NBFCs could also control the asset quality, though it has worsened, due to their agility and availability of a higher and quality collateral cover. NBFCs continue to be an important source of capital for borrowers, supplementing the efforts of the banks.

Retail Finance

NBFCs and HFCs have continued to scale up their portfolio focusing on housing finance, LAP, SME finance and consumer finance. Monoline NBFCs and MFIs focus exclusively on vehicle finance, gold loans, micro finance, etc. Within these sectors, housing finance market continues to grow significantly on the back of a young Indian demographic profile. Further, the SME segment continues to be under-banked and NBFCs are increasingly turning towards this sector. Thus, the potential for NBFCs and HFCs to scale up their business remains significant.

Capital Markets

FY16 was a roller coaster year for equity markets primarily due to significant global headwinds and poor earnings momentum. However, going ahead, sentiments should be better with gradual improvement in economy and corporate earnings. With greater interest in equities and other asset classes, the wealth management industry is also on the cusp of significant growth going forward.

After a stellar showing in FY15, debt capital markets faltered in FY16 due to global volatility and the US Fed rate hike. Though RBI resumed accommodative stance, the rate cuts failed to have the desired effect on bond market yields as transmission was poor. However, Union Budget and other policy actions by

- Indian banking sector moderated in FY16
- NBFC sector gaining importance with increase in assets
- Housing finance and Life insurance to grow owing to a younger demographics
- Global headwinds and poor earning momentum leave equity markets wobbly
- Asset Management industry faces competition and regulatory changes

Edelweiss has come a long way since inception and knowledge, research and innovation have been the key drivers of the company's growth.

the Government and RBI are now paving way for efficient monetary transmission. Thus, we expect a much more vibrant FY17 for the debt markets.

Asset Management

The asset management industry in India consists of a vibrant and rapidly growing mutual funds sector, alternative investment funds (AIFs) and asset reconstruction. In recent times, MF & AIF sectors have seen a wide range of regulatory changes that have brought about increased competition and enhanced consumer protection.

Mutual Funds' average AuMs were ₹13.53 trillion during the fourth quarter of FY16, up 14% YoY, giving fresh impetus to the industry. Alternative assets funds in the structured credit and distressed assets space ended FY16 with AuMs of ~US$ 20 billion with inflows of ~US$ 4 billion during the year.

As the financial savings of Indian investors shift from hard assets (gold and real estate) to financial instruments, the asset management industry should expect exciting opportunities ahead.

Asset Reconstruction Industry continues to offer an alternative for the banks for speedier resolution of assets. ARCs grew their AuMs in FY16 despite facing funding/capital constraints. With the expected amendments to SARFEASI Act & other reforms, ARC industry will see significant prospects for growth.

Life Insurance

Life insurance sector in India suffers from low level of penetration at 3.3% of GDP and per capita insurance density of only ₹3,498 while global insurance penetration stands at 6.2% with density of ₹42,103 (source Swiss Re report). Given the young demographics in India, rising life expectancy and absence of state social security, insurance is expected to grow significantly offering exciting opportunities.

The year FY16 has been a rewarding year for Edelweiss as the strategy of diversification of businesses continued to build sustainability in our performance. We maintained the trend of our quarterly profits improving consistently since FY12 – 18 straight quarters of consistent growth coupled with efficiency and productivity improvement resulting in our net profit for FY16 recording a growth of 26% over FY15. One heartening feature of our profitability growth is that increasingly our profits are being contributed by a diverse set of businesses eliminating volatility in our performance.

Since inception in 1996, our total revenue has grown at a CAGR of 88% and net profit has increased at a CAGR of 81% upto FY16. In more recent times since the completion of our diversification phase in FY12, our total revenue and net profit both have grown at a four year CAGR of 34% upto FY16.

FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

INCOME

Our Fund-based revenue predominantly comes from interest on loans which accounts for ~42% of total revenue for FY16, reflecting the scale up in credit book. Similarly, our Net Interest Income for FY16 was ₹12,223 million (₹7,536 million for FY15), up 62%.

Our diversified revenue streams ensure our constant growth across cycles despite volatile environment.

EXPENSES

Total costs for FY16 was ₹46,969 million (₹33,839 million in FY15), up by 39%. Within our total costs, operating expenses grew by 34% in FY16 as we continued to invest in scaling up our younger retail businesses.

Employee expenses grew by 24% in FY16 as we continued hiring to be ready for future growth. As the size of our operations grew and as we became a ₹320 billion asset company, it was also imperative to strengthen the organisation and we have added people at all levels, including over 80 senior professionals. We added about 670 employees during FY16 taking the total head count to 6,227 by the year end.

Interest expense grew by 43% in FY16 as our borrowings at the end of FY16 were higher at ₹277.73 billion supporting the scale up in credit book.

PROFIT AFTER TAX

Our Profit after Tax and Minority for FY16 was ₹4,144 million compared to ₹3,287 million for FY15, a growth of 26%, which was mainly due to a 62% increase in Net Interest Income partly offset by a 34% growth in Non-Interest Expenses.

We have demonstrated consistent QoQ growth in profitability since FY12 despite the macro environment being challenging in most parts of this period. This has been possible as a result of our long-term strategy of synergistic diversification across businesses, asset classes and client segments.

Profitability ex-insurance

Our life insurance business is relatively young and given the long gestation period of life insurance companies, it is still recording losses. Since our proportionate share of its losses passes through our consolidated P&L, it tends to depress our reported earnings. Excluding the impact of life insurance business, our net profit for FY16 would have been around ₹5,188 million compared to ₹3,813 million in FY15, a growth of 36%. With our tangible equity ex-insurance at ₹28,644 million, the return on tangible equity ex-insurance comes to around 18.6% for FY16 compared to 15.6% for FY15.

We have demonstrated consistent QoQ growth in profitability since FY12 despite the macro environment being challenging in most parts of this period.

Asset Reconstruction Business

Edelweiss Asset Reconstruction Company (EARC) continued to scale up its business with assets of ₹271 billion at the end of FY16 compared to ₹203 billion at the end of FY15, a growth of 33%. EARC is now the leading ARC in the country. It has already created a track record of resolution of assets of ~₹120 billion by the end of FY16 through multiple resolution strategies with revival and business turnaround being the foremost business strategy. It targets investment into potentially viable companies and has assisted companies to completely turnaround operations achieving superior returns.

ARCs present a viable alternative for the banks for asset resolution as they allow them to direct resources for more productive purposes. At the same time, ARCs aim to plough back productive assets into the country's economy.

WAREHOUSING SERVICES

As a part of our strategy of diversifying asset classes, Edelweiss aims to offer end-to-end services to meet a new emerging need by bridging the physical with the financial needs of the agri commodities market. We are working towards creating a comprehensive setup that offers services ranging from procurement of commodities, warehousing, quality assaying and certification, collateral management, credit, distribution to other allied activities.

As a part of our endeavour, at the end of FY16 we had around 265 leased warehouses under our management with a storage capacity of around 11 lakh MT.

LIFE INSURANCE

Edelweiss expanded its addressable retail markets by launching Edelweiss Tokio Life Insurance Company (ETLI) in 2011 in partnership with Tokio Marine of Japan. Edelweiss Tokio Life was launched with a capital of ₹5.5 billion – among the highest start-up capital for any Indian life insurer. The commitment of the JV partners to the business was further demonstrated in FY16 when Tokio Marine infused fresh capital of ₹5.3 billion taking its share to 49% in the company. Currently, Edelweiss holds 51% equity in this JV with Tokio Marine holding the rest. Its networth at the end of FY16 was ₹9.39 billion.

Edelweiss Tokio Life is one of the fastest growing life insurance companies in India in the last three years. Winner of Rising Star Insurer Award in 2013, it continues to scale up its business with a focus on enhancing quality of business with a focus on the customer. Gross premium of the business was ₹3,100 million in FY16 compared to ₹1,930 million in the previous year, a growth of 61%. First year Premium (including Single Premium) grew by 50% to ₹1,836 million (₹1,224 million for FY15)

BALANCE SHEET MANAGEMENT UNIT (BMU)

Balance Sheet Management

The BMU manages our group's liquidity in a way similar to that of the Treasury of a commercial bank. As a part of this process, we have developed a set of Balance Sheet Management Rules to measure, monitor and change key metrics and positions to ensure a healthy Balance Sheet and these are benchmarked to best international practices.

Asset Liability Management Committee (ALCO)

Edelweiss ALCO primarily manages allocation of capital among businesses along with Asset Liability Management. It also oversees implementation of an effective process for managing the group's interest rate & liquidity risks among a host of other crucial functions.

Overnight Liquidity Cushion

BMU ensures that an adequate liquidity cushion is maintained to take care of immediate requirements while continuing to honour our commitments as a going concern. During the year FY16, we enhanced our overnight liquidity cushion to ₹29 billion.

Edelweiss continued to maintain a liquid balance sheet and in the last five years has embarked on a strategy of increasing long-term liabilities to bring down dependence on short-term market borrowings.

Our efforts towards enhancing the Edelweiss Brand Equity have also borne fruit with Edelweiss Financial Services having been identified amongst the '100 Most Valuable Brands of India' in 2015.

Changing Liabilities Profile in Sync with Lengthening Asset Profile

Edelweiss has not only continued to maintain a liquid balance sheet, but over the last five years has embarked on a strategy of reducing dependence on market borrowings and increasing liabilities in the six months to five years bucket thereby bringing down dependence on short-term borrowings. During FY16, we contracted over ₹27 billion of medium to long-term NCDs. We also tapped long-term bank facilities and our total sanctioned bank lines of credit at the end of FY16 were ₹105 billion compared to ₹73 billion a year ago.

Diversification of Sources of Funding

We have also diversified sources of borrowings by tapping newer sources like life and general insurance companies, Pension and Provident Funds during FY16.

EDELWEISS TO BE PRINCIPAL SPONSOR FOR INDIAN OLYMPIC TEAM

We are happy to share that Edelweiss will be a Principal Sponsor of the Indian Olympic team for the Rio Olympics, 2016. As a part of this association, Edelweiss Tokio Life will also provide life insurance cover of ₹10 million to each of the athletes of the Indian Olympic team. We have always been keen to promote sports in India and have supported some of India's best known sports persons like PV Sindhu, Ayonika Paul and MC Mary Kom in the past.

The Olympic Games are a true meritocracy and are about excellence, about achievement, about hard work. These are the values we cherish at Edelweiss and we constantly work towards imbibing these in our daily lives.

EDELWEISS BRAND

During the year, we appointed Saina Nehwal, the ace badminton player, as our brand ambassador to support outstanding sports persons and enhance our brand image. Saina is known for her commitment to the game – the unwavering focus, sheer hard work and mental discipline, qualities that we as an organisation strongly identify with when we speak of adding and delivering value to all our customers' needs. Like her, we need to continually remain energised, disciplined, tenacious and committed to our game.

Our efforts towards enhancing the Edelweiss Brand Equity have also borne fruit with Edelweiss Financial Services having been identified amongst the '100 Most Valuable Brands of India' in 2015 through a research study carried out by World Consulting & Research Corporation (WCRC). Edelweiss was also recently chosen as one of The Economic Times' 'Most Promising Brands of India in 2015'.

OPPORTUNITIES

We believe that despite the current headwinds, the long-term India growth story is intact and the recent improvement in the macro-economic indicators bodes well for a diversified financial services firm like Edelweiss. We see immense opportunities coming our way in FY17 and beyond as under:

- India is already recording the fastest rate of growth within the large economies in the world and various projections for FY17 by the World Bank or IMF etc., indicate that India will continue to occupy the top position. With this, we see large opportunities for us to grow our various diversified businesses.
- Indian savers have been predominantly opting for hard assets or bank deposits among investments. Going forward, we see a greater diversification of asset classes among them which will throw up newer opportunities.
- Social, Mobility, Analytics and Cloud Computing (SMAC) is the emerging trends in technology. The recent Government initiatives in respect of Digital India will also open up access to a whole set of new clients and this will surely lead to a change in the manner financial services are delivered or consumed.
- We believe the policy liberalisation and forward-looking regulatory changes will help markets grow in size, thus making available wider opportunities for providers of financial services.

THREATS

At the same time, we perceive following threats for growth of financial services sector in India:

- Slower than expected recovery of macro-economy, domestically as well as globally, or inability of Government to push through major economic reforms can delay the return of growth.
- While the monsoon is predicted to be normal this year, any unforeseen failure of the monsoon for the third year in a row will accentuate the already precarious situation of drought across the country impacting the rural purchasing power significantly.

OUTLOOK & STRATEGY

Despite the sluggish GDP growth rate, which is still higher than that of most large economies in the world, the long-term outlook on India remains upbeat. With a stable government, which is committed to policy reforms, ease of doing business and encouraging foreign investments, in place, India is expected to resume its journey to higher growth sooner than later.

The financial services sector is expected to grow once the conditions start improving, early signs of which are already visible. Meanwhile, the debt markets hold exciting opportunities as they will become the more dominant source of capital for corporates in future. While the commercial banks are grappling with asset quality issues, the NBFCs are expected to continue to be an effective channel for credit dispensation.

In this backdrop, we believe our strategic approach whose cornerstones are profitability, scalability, constant focus on risk and growth in adjacent markets, building leadership and maintaining culture, will continue to manifest in constant growth for us.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Edelweiss' business activities in multiple geographies and products make it susceptible to various kinds of risks. Certain risks are inherent to the products or services that are offered by Edelweiss and other risks arise due to the external environment. Risk is the cornerstone of our business philosophy and it is one of our Guiding Principles, "We will respect risk". Edelweiss has adopted best in class risk monitoring tools to monitor risks in various products or services.

Edelweiss has an in-house eight risk framework coupled with a four tiered risk governance structure which protects Edelweiss and ensures that risk is contained. The business risk team is responsible for implementation of risk measures at the business level. The enterprise unit, Global Risk Group, is responsible for policy formulation and consolidation of risks at an aggregate level. The Board of Directors oversees the risk management process at Edelweiss by way of the Risk Management Committee.

We continue to focus on pro-active and dynamic management of our risks such as Credit Risk, Market Risk, Operational Risk or Technology Risk, etc., through elaborate risk assessment framework. Our paranoia about risk management helps us to steer through environmental stress without a major impact.

Additionally, the asset liability mismatch is regularly assessed and necessary care is taken to maintain an adequate liquidity cushion for maturing liabilities and unforeseen requirements.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS AND THEIR ADEQUACY

Internal Financial Controls

As per the Companies Act, 2013, the companies need to ensure that they have laid down internal financial controls and that such controls are adequate and were operating effectively. Towards this end, we at Edelweiss have always adopted a risk balancing approach. We have accordingly followed the Risk and Control Self Assessment (RCSA) approach and have put in place systems and procedures for the purpose together with an independent review by an external agency.

Internal Control Procedures

The Internal Control Procedures of Edelweiss include monitoring compliance with relevant matters covered under the Companies Act 2013, delegation of powers, segregation of duties, third party confirmations, periodic reconciliations, RCSA, physical verification and checks on accuracy and all related matters.

Internal Control Policies

Edelweiss has institutionalised a strong compliance culture across the group recognising that transparency and trust amongst all its stakeholders can be achieved only through this. We have a Global Compliance Group and Business Compliance Group that ensure compliance with all the applicable laws.

We have in place a set of various crucial policies such as the Prevention of Insider Trading, Conflicts of Interest Policy and a strong Whistleblower Policy.

Our strategic approach whose cornerstones are profitability, scalability, constant focus on risk and growth in adjacent markets, building leadership and maintaining culture, will continue to manifest in constant growth for us.

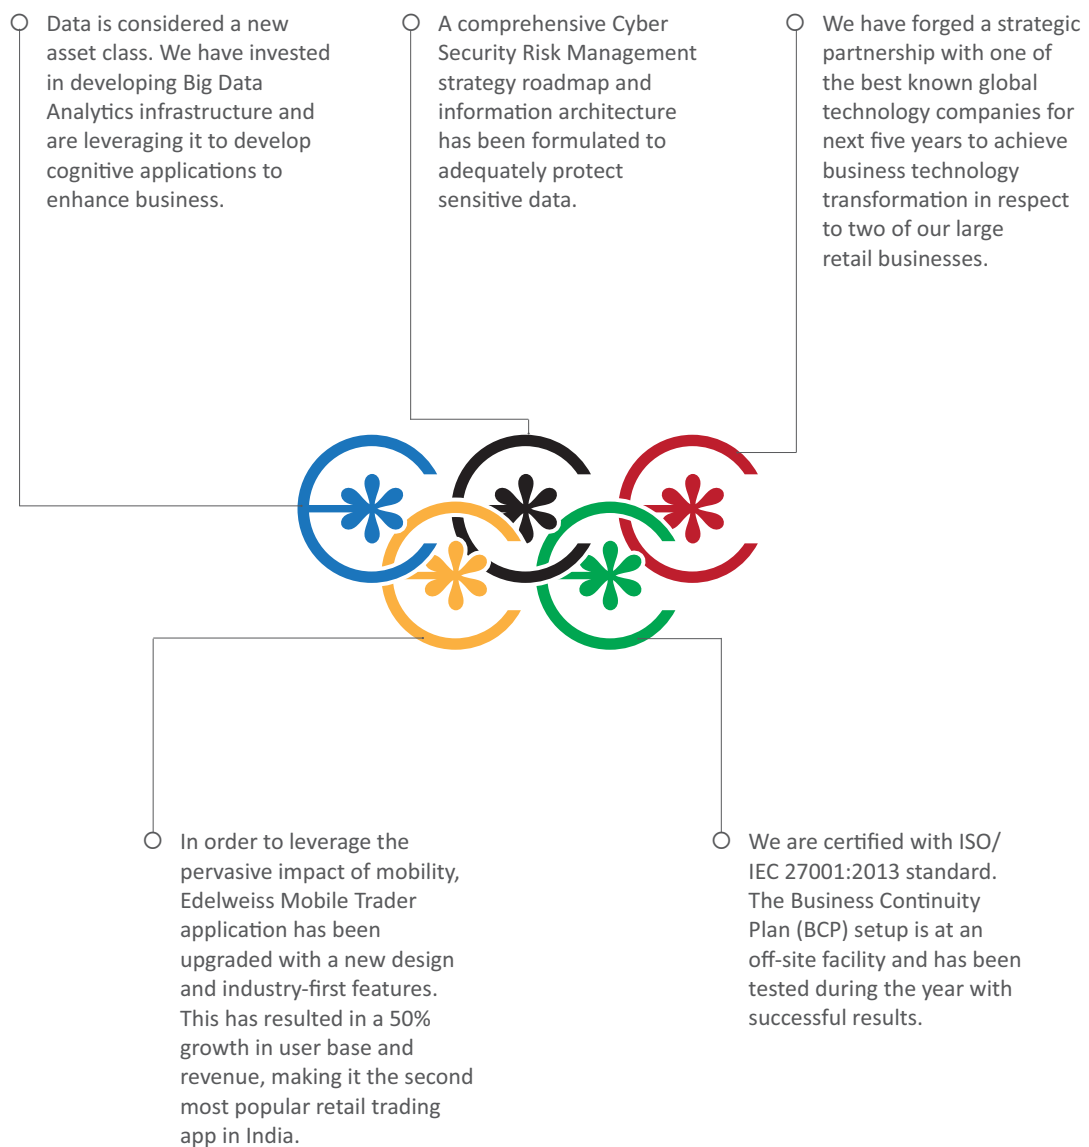

TECHNOLOGY

Technology is disrupting the status quo of almost all industries and at the same time throwing open unprecedented opportunities and threats.

Edelweiss's long-term commitment to technology continues to enable it to grow and unlock competitive advantage for our diversified businesses. Our robust and advanced technology back-end and infrastructure is a key differentiator for us and runs on a multi award winning private cloud.

During the year we embarked on several path-breaking and strategic initiatives as under:

We believe that our people have always been the drivers of innovation, efficiency and productivity leading to our phenomenal track record of growth.

Whether wholesale or retail businesses, customer centricity will be the key differentiator.

HUMAN RESOURCES

The Edelweiss philosophy on people is deep rooted in building and nurturing talent and leadership within the organisation. We believe that our people have always been the drivers of innovation, efficiency and productivity leading to our consistent track record of growth. Throughout FY16, we have continued to deepen our philosophy through a series of well designed measures, some of which are summarised below:

- At Edelweiss, we have always valued our gender mix and are happy that 19% of our employees are women. In addition, mentoring for women employees is a formal programme under aegis of Women Empowered platform.
- As a part of Edelweiss' ongoing efforts to strengthen the compliance culture, Achieving Compliance Excellence (ACE), a Compliance Learning Programme with 28 e-modules covering approximately 25 hours of e-learning was launched.
- Edelweiss has been spreading its campus footprint wider than ever with over 150 hires from across premier campuses like the top ranked IIMs, IITs and law colleges.

Building Leadership for Future

The Edelweiss Leadership Programme has been created in the backdrop of Edelweiss' rapid expansion and diversification of businesses coupled with the aspiration to grow further. This programme nurtures and develops potential leaders to seamlessly execute the organisation's growth target over the next eight to ten years with the help of the three - tiered Edelweiss Leadership Structure comprising of Senior Leaders (SL), Advancing Leaders (AL) and Emerging Leaders (EL). We are committed to providing an opportunity to all who can contribute at a leadership level.

We ended FY16 with a total headcount of 6,227 (5,555 as at the end of the previous year) spread across 237 offices in 122 cities worldwide. EFSL entity on a standalone basis had 110 employees at the end of FY16.

CUSTOMER CENTRICITY

The diversification strategy followed by Edelweiss in the past few years has seen addition of a large number of retail clients with the result that by now we service over 887,000 clients across Institutional, HNI and Retail client segments. Whether wholesale or retail businesses, we believe that customer centricity will be the key differentiator. Customer centricity goes to the heart of how we think and manage our businesses and our relationships with the clients. It is about how we design our products, how we sell and finally how we service our customers. Customer Centricity at Edelweiss imbibes all these essential tenets to build long-term relationship with clients based on trust and fair play.

Annexure A to the Independent Auditors' Report - 31 March 2016

Annexure - A to the Independent Auditor's Report of even date on the consolidated financial statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act")

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the Company as of and for the year ended 31 March 2016, we have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited (hereinafter referred to as the "Holding Company") and its subsidiary companies and its associates which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management's responsibility for internal financial controls

The respective Board of Directors of the Holding Company, its subsidiary companies and its associates, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, safeguarding of its assets, prevention and detection of frauds and errors, accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors' responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI and the Standards on Auditing, issued by the ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involved performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors in terms of their report referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of internal financial controls over financial reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Holding Company, its subsidiary companies and its associates, which are companies incorporated in India, have, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31 March 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the ICAI.

Other matters

Our aforesaid reports under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the internal financial controls over financial reporting in so far as it relates to 26 subsidiary companies and 2 associate companies, which are companies incorporated in India, is based on the corresponding reports of the auditors of such companies incorporated in India.

Notes to the abridged consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2016

1 Significant accounting policies

1.1 Basis of preparation of abridged consolidated financial statements

The accompanying abridged consolidated financial statements are prepared pursuant to first proviso to sub section (1) of Section 136 of the Act and Rule 10 of Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014 and are based on the annual accounts for the year ended 31 March 2016. The abridged consolidated financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees in millions.

1.2 Principles of consolidation

- a) The consolidated financial statements relate to Edelweiss Financial Services Limited ('the Company') and its subsidiaries and associates (together 'the Group'). The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the following basis:
- In respect of subsidiary enterprises, the financial statements have been consolidated on a line-by-line basis by adding together the book values of like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses, after as far as possible eliminating intra-group balances and intra-group transactions resulting in unrealised profits or losses in accordance with Accounting Standard 21 - Consolidated Financial Statements.
 - In case of Associate Enterprises, the financial statements have been consolidated as per Accounting Standard 23 - Accounting for Investment in Associates.
 - Investments in subsidiaries where control is intended to be temporary or where the objective of control over the subsidiary is not to obtain economic benefits there from, have not been consolidated.
 - The financial statements of all subsidiaries incorporated outside India which are in the nature of non-integral foreign operations are converted on the following basis : (a) Income and expenses are converted at the average rate of exchange applicable for the year and (b) All assets and liabilities are translated at the closing rate as on the Balance Sheet date. The exchange difference arising out of year end translation is debited or credited as "Foreign Currency Translation Reserve" forming part of "Reserves and Surplus".
 - The excess of cost over the Company's share in equity and reserves of the subsidiaries is recognised in the consolidated financial statements as Goodwill. The excess of Company's share in equity and reserves of the subsidiaries over the cost of acquisition is treated as Capital Reserve.
 - The share of minority interest in the net profit / loss of subsidiaries for the year is identified and adjusted against the income of the Group to arrive at the net income attributable to the Group.
 - The share of minority interest in net assets of subsidiaries is identified and presented in the consolidated financial statements separate from liabilities and the equity of the Group.

The eligible employees of certain companies of the Group are permitted to carry forward certain number of their annual leave entitlement to subsequent years, subject to a ceiling. The Group recognises the charge to the statement of profit and loss and corresponding liability on account of such non-vesting accumulated leave entitlement based on a valuation by an independent actuary.

Two Subsidiaries of the Group provides for the encashment of leave subject to rules. The liability is provided based on the number of days of unutilised leave at each balance sheet date based on a valuation by an independent actuary.

Deferred Bonus

The Company has adopted a Deferred Bonus Plan under its Deferred Variable Compensation Plan. A pool of identified senior employees of the Company is entitled for benefits under this plan. Such deferred compensation will be paid in a phased manner over a future period of time. The measurement for the same has been based on actuarial assumptions and principles. These assumptions and principles are consistent with the requirements of Accounting Standard 15 (Revised 2005).

1.15 Tax

Tax expense comprises current tax (i.e. amount of tax for the period determined in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961), deferred tax charge or benefit (reflecting the tax effect of timing differences between accounting income and taxable income for the period).

Current tax

Provision for current tax is recognised based on estimated tax liability computed after adjusting for allowances, disallowances and exemptions in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Deferred tax

The deferred tax charge or benefit and the corresponding deferred tax liabilities and assets are recognized using the tax rates that have been enacted or substantially enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent there is reasonable certainty that the asset can be realised in future; however, where there is unabsorbed depreciation or carried forward loss under taxation laws, deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is a virtual certainty of realisation of these assets. Deferred tax assets are reviewed as at each balance sheet date and written down or written-up to reflect the amount that is reasonable/virtually certain (as the case may be) to be realised.

Minimum Alternative Tax (MAT) Credit

MAT credit asset is recognized where there is convincing evidence that the asset can be realized in future. MAT credit assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date and written down or written up to reflect the amount that is reasonably certain to be realised.

1.16 Operating leases

Lease payments for assets taken on operating lease are recognised as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

1.17 Earnings per share

The Company reports basic and diluted earnings per share in accordance with Accounting Standard 20 – “Earnings Per Share”. Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue equity shares were exercised or converted during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earning per share and weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all potential equity shares.

1.18 Provisions and contingencies

The Group creates a provision when there is present obligation as a result of a past event that probably requires an outflow of resources and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. A disclosure for a contingent liability is made when there is a possible obligation or a present obligation that may, but probably will not, require an outflow of resources. When there is a possible obligation or a present obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no provision or disclosure is made.

Provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. If it is no longer probable that the outflow of resources would be required to settle the obligation, the provision is reversed.

Contingent assets are not recognised in the financial statements. However, contingent assets are assessed continually and if it is virtually certain that an economic benefit will arise, the asset and related income are recognised in the period in which the change occurs.

1.19 Provisioning on receivables from financing business

Provision for non-performing assets is based on the management’s assessment of the degree of impairment of the loan asset and the level of provisioning required as per the prudential norms prescribed by RBI and NHB.

Provision for standard assets is made on the basis of prudential norms laid down by RBI and NHB.

1.20 Mutual Fund expenses

Expenses incurred on behalf of schemes of the mutual fund are recognised to the statement of profit and loss unless considered recoverable from schemes of the fund in accordance with provisions of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 1996.

1.21 Employee stock option plans (ESOPs)

The Group follows the intrinsic value method to account for compensation cost of the stock based employee compensation plans of the Company. The compensation cost is amortised on a straight-line basis.

1.22 Presentation of financial assets and liabilities

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amounts are presented in the Balance Sheet where the Company has a legal right to set off the recognised amounts. Such legal rights are by virtue of a binding legal contract or by an irrevocable undertaking executed by the Company. The aforesaid policy is generally applied to offset receivables from and payables to same counterparties; to offset fixed deposits specifically pledged with banks against the borrowings availed from them; and other such similar qualifying arrangements.

We have taken into account the provisions of the Act, the accounting and auditing standards and matters which are required to be included in the audit report under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143 (10) of the Act. Those Standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and the disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal financial control relevant to the Company's preparation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances.

An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of the accounting policies used and the reasonableness of the accounting estimates made by the Company's Directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the standalone financial statements.

Annexure - B to the Independent Auditors' Report of even date on the standalone financial statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited (the "Company") as of 31 March 2016 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's responsibility for internal financial controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, safeguarding of its assets, prevention and detection of frauds and errors, accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors' responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by the ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of internal financial controls over financial reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Annexure - B to the Independent Auditors' Report of even date on the standalone financial statements of Edelweiss Financial Services Limited (Continued)

Inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31 March 2016, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

Intangible fixed assets are recorded at the consideration paid for the acquisition of such assets and are carried at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment, if any.

Intangibles such as software is amortised over a period of 3 years or its estimated useful life whichever is shorter.

1.6 Impairment of assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date whether there is any indication that an asset may be impaired based on internal/external factors. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset. The recoverable amount is the greater of the net selling price and the value in use of those assets. Value in use is arrived at by discounting the estimated future cash flows to their present value based on an appropriate discount factor. If such recoverable amount of the asset or the recoverable amount of cash generating unit to which the asset belongs is less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount is reduced to its recoverable amount. The reduction is treated as an impairment loss and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The difference in the opening and closing exchange rates (mark to market) is recognised in the statement of profit and loss. Gratuity

The Company's gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The Company's net obligation in respect of the gratuity benefit is calculated by estimating the amount of future benefit that the employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior periods. Such benefit is discounted to determine its present value, and the fair value of any plan assets, if any, is deducted. The present value of the obligation under such benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method. The obligation is measured at present values of estimated future cash flows. The discount rates used for determining the present value are based on the market yields on Government Securities as at the balance sheet date.

1.9 Employee benefits (Continued)

Benefits in respect of gratuity are funded with an Insurance Company approved by Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDA).

Actuarial gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and change in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the statement of profit and loss in the period in which they arise.

Compensated absences

The eligible employees of the Company are permitted to carry forward certain number of their annual leave entitlement to subsequent years, subject to a ceiling. The Company recognises the charge to the statement of profit and loss and corresponding liability on account of such non-vesting accumulated leave entitlement based on a valuation by an independent actuary.

Deferred Bonus

The Company has adopted a Deferred Bonus Plan under its Deferred Variable Compensation Plan. A pool of identified senior employees of the Company is entitled for benefits under this plan. Such deferred compensation will be paid in a phased manner over a future period of time. The measurement for the same has been based on actuarial assumptions and principles. These assumptions and principles are consistent with the requirements of Accounting Standard 15 (Revised 2005).

1.10 Taxation

Tax expense comprises of current tax (i.e. amount of tax for the year determined in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961), deferred tax charge or benefit (reflecting the tax effect of timing differences between accounting income and taxable income for the year) and minimum alternate tax.

Current tax

Provision for current tax is recognised based on estimated tax liability computed after adjusting for allowances, disallowances and exemptions in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Deferred tax

The deferred tax charge or benefit and the corresponding deferred tax liabilities and assets are recognised using the tax rates that have been enacted or substantially enacted as at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent there is reasonable certainty that the asset can be realised in future, however, where there is unabsorbed depreciation or carried forward loss under taxation laws, deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is a virtual certainty of realisation of the assets. Deferred tax assets are reviewed as at each balance sheet date and written down or written up to reflect the amount that is reasonably/virtually certain, as the case may be, to be realised.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT)

MAT credit asset is recognised where there is convincing evidence that the asset can be realised in future. MAT credit assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date and written down or written up to reflect the amount that is reasonably certain to be realised.

1.11 Operating leases

Lease payments for assets taken on operating lease are recognised as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

1.12 Earnings per share

The Company reports basic and diluted earnings per share in accordance with Accounting Standard 20 – “Earnings Per Share”. Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue equity shares were exercised or converted during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the net profit after tax attributable to the equity shareholders for the year by weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per share and weighted average number of equity shares that could have been issued upon conversion of all potential equity shares.

1.13 Employee stock option plans (‘ESOPs’)

The Company follows the intrinsic value method to account for compensation cost of its stock based employee compensation plans as per the accounting treatment prescribed by Employee Stock Option Scheme and Employee Share-based Payments issued by Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) and guidance note on Employee Share-based Payments issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI). The compensation cost is amortised on a straight-line basis.

1.14 Provisions and contingencies

The Company creates a provision when there is present obligation as a result of a past event that probably requires an outflow of resources and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. A disclosure for a contingent liability is made when there is a possible obligation or a present obligation that may, but probably will not, require an outflow of resources. When there is a possible obligation or a present obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no provision or disclosure is made.

Provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. If it is no longer probable that the outflow of resources would be required to settle the obligation, the provision is reversed.

Contingent assets are not recognised in the financial statements. However, contingent assets are assessed continually and if it is virtually certain that an economic benefit will arise, the asset and related income are recognised in the period in which the change occurs.

2.9 The Company by virtue of its holding company activities, charges its actual borrowing cost on the loans extended to its group companies. Consequently, in the financial statements, Finance costs have been reflected net of the interest recovered from group companies amounting to ₹ 5,113.67 million (Previous year: ₹ 3,990.91 million). During January 2016, Expert Advisory Committee (EAC) of the Institute of the Chartered Accountants of India ('the ICAI') has opined that the recovery of interest income from group companies should be presented separately in the Statement of Profit and Loss. In the opinion of management, principal activities of the Company is of merchant banking and extending loans to its group companies is part of parental support and hence presenting the recovery of finance cost as income does not reflect the business rationale as there is no economic benefit accruing to the Company. Accordingly, in February 2016, a reference has been made to EAC for review of its opinion. Pending response from the ICAI on the matter, existing practice of presenting finance cost, net of interest recovery from the group companies, is continued.
