

Kutch Mahila Vikas Sangathan (KMVS)

Kutch Mahila Vikas Sangathan (KMVS) was founded in 1989. Since then, it has organised women on the margins in rural and urban areas of Kutch, enabling them to challenge and address gender inequities within their homes, communities and regions. Through a range of strategic interventions, KMVS has fostered the leadership of women to transform their conditions and impact their socio-political, ecological, economic and cultural ecosystems.

- Presence in over 407 villages, reaching 30,000 women and girls
- Supported 9,070 survivors of gendered violence, built a cadre of 719 para-legals, 1,857 youth members, 1,608 Elected Women Representatives
- Sensitised 9,355 young boys and girls and 75 caste-based leaders.
