

FORBES MARSHALL FOUNDATION

The Forbes Foundation was set up to allow the funding of social initiatives that fell outside the company's core social programs. The Foundation seeks to improve individual lives and help realize the potential of the larger society, with a special focus on programs in education, health and research which leads to more impactful philanthropy. The Foundation's approach and principles arise directly from the Forbes Marshall Company's heritage of providing community service and innovative solutions to issues. By partnering with organizations of integrity and ingenuity, the Foundation hope to create a record of progress that can inform and make change happen.
